SampleCare Plus — Fictional Health Insurance Policy

TEST DOCUMENT ONLY. Every insurer, customer, identifier and policy term in this document is invented. This document is not a real insurance contract, medical recommendation, or offer of coverage.

1. Policy schedule

Fictional insurer: ExampleCare Insurance. Product: SampleCare Plus. Policy ID: DEMO-V3-2026-001.

Coverage period: 1 January 2026 to 31 December 2026, inclusive. Geographic scope: eligible treatment received in India only.

Annual sum insured: INR 500,000 per policy year. Annual deductible: INR 10,000 per policy year.

The annual deductible is an aggregate amount applied before eligible claims are reimbursed. A separate co-payment may also apply.

2. Definitions

Inpatient admission: medically necessary admission to a hospital involving an overnight stay. Day-care treatment is eligible only when specifically listed in Section 3.

Pre-existing condition: a medical condition diagnosed or treated before the policy effective date. Waiting period: time after coverage begins during which specified benefits are unavailable.

Eligible expense: a charge that meets all applicable coverage conditions, limits, waiting periods, and exclusions. Approval is never automatic merely because a service appears in a benefits list.

Benefits and limits

3. Covered services

Subject to all policy conditions, eligible expenses include medically necessary inpatient hospital stays, inpatient surgical procedures, and diagnostic investigations ordered as part of an eligible inpatient admission.

Emergency ground ambulance transport is covered up to INR 3,000 per incident when directly related to an eligible admission. Air ambulance services are not included.

The following day-care procedures are included even without an overnight stay: cataract surgery and dialysis performed at a licensed hospital, provided the other policy conditions are satisfied.

4. Waiting periods

Non-accidental illnesses are subject to an initial waiting period of 30 days after the policy begins. Accidental injuries are exempt from this initial 30-day waiting period.

Treatment for a pre-existing condition becomes eligible only after 24 continuous months of coverage, subject to the other terms of this policy. This is sometimes described as a two-year exclusion period for previously diagnosed illnesses.

A separate 12-month waiting period applies to cataract surgery unless the surgery is medically necessary because of an accident. If more than one waiting period applies, the longer applicable period governs.

5. Room charges

Eligible room rent is limited to INR 5,000 per day. Amounts above that daily limit are not reimbursed. The room-rent cap does not increase the annual sum insured.

Cost sharing and exclusions

6. Deductible and co-payment

The policyholder first pays the annual deductible of INR 10,000 from otherwise eligible expenses. After the deductible has been satisfied, a 10% co-payment applies to the remaining eligible inpatient claim amount, subject to coverage limits.

Illustrative calculation: If a single otherwise eligible claim is INR 50,000 and the deductible has not been used this policy year, the remaining amount is INR 40,000. A 10% co-payment of INR 4,000 applies; the illustrative reimbursement is INR 36,000. This example assumes no other limit or exclusion applies.

7. Exclusions

The plan does not cover routine outpatient consultations or pharmacy purchases that are unrelated to eligible hospitalization; cosmetic treatment without medical necessity; routine dental treatment except following a covered accident; elective laser vision correction; or expenses incurred outside India.

Treatment associated with participation in professional motor racing is excluded. Preventive health checkups are not a covered benefit under this sample plan.

8. Services not specified

This fictional policy does not specify maternity or childbirth benefits, fertility treatment benefits, or coverage for mental-health outpatient therapy. An absence of detail must not be interpreted as either approval or denial for an individual claim.

Claims and authorization

9. Planned admissions

For planned hospitalization, the policyholder should request pre-authorization at least 72 hours before admission. Pre-authorization is an administrative review and is not a guarantee of payment.

10. Emergency admissions

For emergency hospitalization, notify the fictional claims desk within 48 hours after admission. An emergency does not remove exclusions, waiting periods, or benefit limits.

11. Documents and deadlines

Submit the completed claim form, itemized hospital bills, discharge summary, and applicable diagnostic reports within 30 calendar days after discharge. The insurer may request further evidence before making a decision.

12. Claims examples

Example A: A policyholder admitted for an accidental injury on day 10 is not subject to the 30-day initial illness waiting period, but other terms still apply.

Example B: A policyholder seeking treatment for a previously diagnosed condition after 14 months has not completed the 24-month waiting period, even though the initial 30-day period has ended.

Renewal, limitations and FAQ

13. Renewal

Renewal is subject to the fictional insurer’s terms available at the renewal date. This document provides no guaranteed renewal premium or guaranteed lifetime renewal entitlement.

14. Priority of terms

Specific benefit limits and exclusions take precedence over general descriptions of covered services. If a question requires facts about a particular person or claim not provided here, no definitive coverage determination can be made.

15. Frequently asked questions

Q: Does emergency care automatically qualify for reimbursement? No. Emergency admission may qualify for covered services, but the applicable exclusions, waiting periods, deductible, co-payment and limits still apply.

Q: Is every surgical procedure covered? No. Only eligible procedures satisfying the policy terms are covered. Cosmetic procedures without medical necessity are excluded.

Q: Does the plan cover hospital stays abroad? No. Eligible treatment is limited to India, and expenses incurred outside India are excluded.

Q: What is the maternity benefit limit? No maternity benefit limit is specified in this document. The document cannot support a numeric answer.

Q: Is there a telephone number for claims? No actual telephone number is provided because this is a fictional evaluation document.
